

Spring 2025 ASU IRB Events

Coffee Hour with ASU IRB (January 28, 2025)

Researchers can attend optional office hours to have their IRB-related questions answered via Zoom. Can't make it to coffee hour? Researchers are encouraged to review our IRB FAQ on our new website: <https://researchcompliance.asu.edu/human-subjects/>. This event will be presented by the ASU IRB staff within the Office of Research Integrity and Assurance (ORIA).

Registration: Coffee Hour with the ASU Institutional Review Board staff | ASU Events

The Who, What, When, and Where to Apply: Initial IRB Submission Process (February 4, 2025)

Do you want to submit your study to the ASU IRB, but not sure where to begin? Do you even know who the ASU IRB is and what we do? Researchers can attend this workshop to learn about the ASU IRB, application process, required materials, and how to submit in the Enterprise Research Administration (ERA) system. Can't make it to this session? Researchers are encouraged to review our IRB FAQ on our new website: <https://researchcompliance.asu.edu/human-subjects/>. This event will be presented by the ASU IRB staff within the Office of Research Integrity and Assurance (ORIA).

Registration: The Who, What, When and Where to Apply: Internal IRB Submission Process | ASU Events

You Received Approval...Now What? Study Management Post-IRB Approval (February 25, 2025)

Did you receive funding for your currently approved IRB study? How about adding a new study team member? What do those Continuing Review notifications from Research Integrity even mean? What do I do if something went wrong during my study? Researchers can attend this workshop to learn about modifications (and the different types) as well as continuing reviews, study closures, reportable events, and how to submit in the Enterprise Research Administration (ERA) system.

Spring 2025 ASU IRB Events

Can't make it to this session? Researchers are encouraged to review our IRB FAQ on our new website: <https://researchcompliance.asu.edu/human-subjects/>. This event will be presented by the ASU IRB staff within the Office of Research Integrity and Assurance (ORIA).

Registration: You Received Approval... Now What? Study Management Post-IRB Approval | ASU Events

Coffee Hour with ASU IRB (March 18, 2025)

Researchers can attend optional office hours to have their IRB-related questions answered via Zoom. Can't make it to this coffee hour? Researchers are encouraged to review our IRB FAQ on our new website: <https://researchcompliance.asu.edu/human-subjects/>. This event will be presented by the ASU IRB staff within the Office of Research Integrity and Assurance (ORIA).

Registration: Coffee Hour with the ASU Institutional Review Board staff | ASU Events

External Collaborators, Reliance Agreement, and Local Contextual Reviews Presentation (March 25, 2025)

Do you have an external collaborator apart of your study team? Is an external institution/university serving as the IRB of record? What on earth is a local contextual review? Is all of this clear as mud? Researchers can attend this workshop to learn about appropriately adding external collaborators to their study team as well as appropriately deferring ASU IRB oversight to an external IRB. Can't make it to this session? Researchers are encouraged to review our IRB FAQ on our new website: <https://researchcompliance.asu.edu/human-subjects/>. This event will be presented by the ASU IRB staff within the Office of Research Integrity and Assurance (ORIA).

Registration: External Collaborators, Reliance Agreement and Local Contextual Reviews Presentation | ASU Events

Spring 2025 ASU IRB Events

Let's Revisit AI: Discussion on Ethical Considerations in Human Subjects Research (April 15, 2025)

Come join us for a panel discussion with the same experts that provided a brief overview of AI, current and future research trends, ethical issues related to AI and human subjects, and ASU's viewpoint related to AI back in Spring 2024. This is a hot topic that you DON'T want to miss! This event will be moderated by the ASU IRB staff within the Office of Research Integrity and Assurance (ORIA).

Registration: Let's Revisit AI: Discussion on Ethical Considerations in Human Subjects Research | ASU Events